January 2022 Newsletter

Omicron has changed January meeting plans. We will keep the MONDAY meeting but both January meetings will be virtual zoom. We will monitor month by month to try to get back to in person meetings as COVID-19 levels change.

We will be switching our "virtual" meeting to third MONDAY starting in January. Hosted by member Lloyd Nutter. Lloyd sends out a Zoom invitation a couple days before the meeting. If you do not get an invitation for the meetings, please contact Lloyd to make sure he adds you to his list. Emailing him: trains56@charter.net. Also, if you need to test how Zoom works, Lloyd will be glad to give you a test.

MEMBERSHIP RENEWAL. Membership form is attached. You can pay dues by mail to treasurer, Barbara Asher.

ONE-PAGE ADVENTURES

By Colin Clark

Two roads diverged in a wood and I – I took the one less traveled by. – Robert Frost

Since the advent of the coronavirus pandemic, virtual philately has been on the crest of a wave, which includes podcasts (e.g. Conversations with Philatelists), YouTube channels (e.g. Exploring Stamps) and even our own club Zoom meetings. Another aspect of emerging virtual philately is the concept of one-page exhibiting. Traditional exhibiting has usually been a function of single or multiple frame units. However, one-page exhibits are the smallest, but equally challenging step-child, and they are popular in Europe, Asia and Canada. The USA is only now coming to the table, as regards one-page exhibits.

What are the Factors and Challenges of One-page Exhibiting:

Just like all forms of exhibiting, the creator must pay attention to every detail, and consider using every possible available area on the page. To create a powerful one-page exhibit, the detailed content, quality of images, storytelling, and visual appeal is a challenging balance. The philatelic story must have a beginning, middle and end, all encompassed on one page. One-page exhibits are the haiku of exhibiting, a special discipline and in some ways are just as challenging as a more expansive exhibit.

My One-page Road:

For years, I had always had aspirations to exhibit my philatelic items, but it wasn't until the rise of virtual philately and the virtual doors of one-page exhibiting were opening that I had an epiphany about how my particular items would fit hand-in-glove with the virtual world. The first competition I was involved with was the Stanley Gibbons Blue, of April 2020. From there, for me, one event followed another. The chronology is summarized in the table below.

Competition	1	2	3	4	Comments
Stanley Gibbons			③		UK
HOMEPEX 2020		②			Nova Scotia Stamp Club (Canada)
All About Stamps 2020			③		UK magazine
SEAPEX 2020		②			Seattle Philatelic Exhibition (USA)
American Philatelic Society				④	Great American Stamp Show 2020
North Toronto Stamp Club 2020	①				Silver Medal awarded (Canada)
American Topical Association				④	My One Page Exhibit!
All About Stamps (Spring and Fall 2021)			③		UK magazine
North Toronto Stamp Club 2021	①				(Canada)
BANGLA BLUES 2021	①				(Bangladesh – Asia)

Table Key:

Nbr.	Symbol	Assessment method of entry is...
1	①	Judged.
2	②	Popularity, via public voting.
3	③	Combination of popularity (to access the judging phase), followed by judging.
4	④	Non-competitive (display only)

NOTE: When dealing with different competitions from different global regions, there are often format challenges. Page size can vary between 8 ½ x 11 and A4 (EU and some Asia).

Additionally, different file types may be required by the organizers, e.g. 300 dpi JPEG or PDF.

All of these types of challenges will hone your desk-top publishing skills.

Throughout this whole adventure, I've created three (3) separate one-page exhibits, namely "Building Victorian Bridges", "Mr. Abbott's Big Idea" and "Surfing the Victorian Web".

Conclusion:

The world of virtual one-page exhibits is an ever expanding phenomenon. This concept is just now starting to take hold in the USA, but has been, and continues to be a growth area in the rest of the world. In the current difficult times, the one-page world is serving to unite philatelists across the globe (e.g. BANGLA BLUES 2021 in Bangladesh had 167 exhibitors from 14 different countries – including USA, Canada, Hong Kong, South Africa, Brazil and Belgium). One-page exhibiting is also an entry point for first-time novice exhibitors, who may then subsequently try their hand at frame exhibiting. This momentum can create new frame exhibitors. Why not join me on this road less traveled by.

There are online Stamp Chat events sponsored by American Philatelic Society using Zoom. The next chat is January 13 at 3:00 pm on Exploring Astronomy and Space through Philately. You can register at this link: <https://stamps.org/news/sc/stampchats/p/1>

There are Stamp Chats scheduled all through the end of 2021. There are replays of these chats available on YouTube. The variety of subjects now available is amazing. <https://www.youtube.com/user/AmericasStampClub> is the link to check out all the stored Chats.

The Huntsville Alabama Philatelic Club newsletter recently highlighted the site www.thestampweb.com and its free album creation software AlbumEasy. In addition to a free download of the program to let you custom create albums there are many albums already created that are available for free download. Check out the online tutorials and see if this might be helpful to you either for album or exhibit page creation. The site also includes some interesting links to stamp forums and reference sites.
